Assessment system of learning outcomes

The university uses a 100-point accumulative system for assessing the learning outcomes of applicants of higher education.

Current control is carried out during practices and aimed at checking the level of preparedness of the applicants of higher education to perform a specific task. It is estimated by the sum of points scored.

The final control includes the semester control, which is conducted in the form of a differentiated assessment.

The maximum possible points for the current control during the semester for the discipline, which form of control is credit, is 100, and the minimum possible number of points is 60.

Current control includes the following control measures: comprehensive-indicative tasks, tests.

More detailed information on the system of assessing and accumulation of points for the training course is provided in the work plan (technological card) for the training course.

Training course policy

The teaching of the training course is based on the principles of academic integrity. Violations of academic integrity are academic plagiarism, fabrication, falsification, write-off, deception, bribery, or biased evaluation. For violation of academic integrity, students are brought to the following academic responsibility: re-assessment of the relevant type of educational work.
