

Information for students of the preparatory department and trainees

The Faculty of Training of Foreign Citizens systematically prepares foreign citizens for obtaining higher education degrees.

For admission to the first (bachelor's) and second (master's) levels of higher education, foreign citizens are trained in language training programs in economic, engineering, and medical-biological fields, respectively, or in other fields, in accordance with the needs of further education according to approved curricula and educational schedules process

The cost of studying at the preparatory department in the 2022/2023 academic year is the equivalent of 900 USD.

For admission to study at the third (educational-scientific) level of higher education, foreign citizens carry out purposeful preparation for admission as trainees under internship programs with an individual training trajectory, during the implementation of which the supervisor of the internship makes a conclusion about the feasibility of continuing studies at the educational-scientific level.

The cost of training for internship programs in the 2022/2023 academic year is the equivalent of 600 USD.
